Beginning Studies In Gregorian Chant

Dom Eugene Cardine was a Benedictine monk, resident in France at the Abbey of St. Pierre de Solesmes, and a scholar of Gregorian chant. He wrote this volume as the first-year text for a 3-year course of study of Gregorian chant. His volume was originally in French, but interestingly, the first edition of his book appeared in 1970 in an Italian translation, which apparently incorporated passages that were not by Dom Cardine himself, but which other translators incorporated into the Italian ...

Beginning with the improvised harmonizations of Gregorian chant known as organum, Gregorian chants became a driving force in medieval and Renaissance polyphony. Often, a Gregorian chant (sometimes in modified form) would be used as a cantus firmus, so that the consecutive notes of the chant determined the harmonic progression.

Gregorian chant, monophonic, or unison, liturgical music of the Roman Catholic Church, used to accompany the text of the mass and the canonical hours, or divine office. Gregorian chant is named after St. Gregory I, during whose papacy (590-604) it was collected and codified. Charlemagne, king of the Franks (768-814), imposed Gregorian chant on his kingdom, where another liturgical tradition ...
