At all times wonderfully evocative and poignant, Cider With Rosie is a charming memoir of Laurie Lee's childhood in a remote Cotswold village, a world that is tangibly real and yet reminiscent of a now distant past. In this idyllic pastoral setting, unencumbered by the callous father who so quickly abandoned his family responsibilities, Laurie's adoring mother becomes the c

So far, I've learnt that the lawn mower was invented just outside Stroud by the wonderfully named Edwin Beard Budding (thanks to Museum in the Park for that factoid) and that cheese rolling is a thing. I was also quite intrigued by my colleague's statement that everyone in Gloucestershire keeps a copy of Cider with Rosie.
